

SENATE TREATED TO A SENSATION

Patterson of Colorado Introduces Resolutions Against Democratic Caucus.

NEW QUESTION IS RAISED

DATE SET FOR VOTE ON SHIPPING BILL.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The senate was treated to a distinct sensation today by Mr. Patterson, Democrat, of Colorado, who followed up his retirement of last Saturday from the Democratic caucus by introducing in the senate a resolution in effect declaring the action of the caucus to have been contrary to the constitution of the United States. Apparently the senator's action was unexpected on the part of a majority of the senators, and they listened attentively as the reading of the rather long preamble progressed, evidently not a little concerned as to what should come next. Mr. Patterson made no effort to secure the privilege of discussing the resolution today, but gave notice that he would address the senate upon it tomorrow or at the first available day afterward. It is expected that the Democrats generally will resist the adoption of the resolution and that the Republican senators will sustain Mr. Patterson's contention.

New Question Raised.
Aside from the personal interest in Mr. Patterson's political fortunes, the resolution raises a new question as to the rights of senators generally, so that there is much scope for animated discussion and wide margin for difference of opinion. In all probability several days will elapse before the question is settled.

Before Mr. Patterson's matter came up, Mr. Bacon had given notice of a speech tomorrow, so that it is probable that Mr. Patterson's speech will be postponed until Wednesday.

Mr. Gallinger succeeded during the day in securing the fixing of a date for voting on the shipping bill, the hour announced being Wednesday, the 14th instant, at 3 p. m.

Several bills were passed during the day, and Mr. Teller made a speech in opposition to the shipping bill.

Mr. Foraker announced that he had no intention of attempting to delay action on the statehood bill.

Oleyn Made Regent.

The senate adopted a resolution reappointing former Secretary of State Richard Olney as a member of the board of regents of the Smithsonian Institution.

Mr. Tillman presented and the senate adopted a resolution calling upon the postmaster general for information as to the number of postal clerks killed in railroad accidents during the past five years, also asking how many steel cars are now used in the postal service, and what the fatalities have been so great in those as in other cars.

Patterson's Sensation.

Mr. Patterson caused a sensation by introducing a resolution having the following resolution:

"Whereas, the constitution provides that the senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislatures thereof, and that each senator shall have one vote; and

"Whereas, each senator before assuming the duties of his office is required solemnly to swear or affirm that he will support and defend the constitution of the United States, and that he will faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which he is about to enter; and

"Whereas, it was currently reported that one or more Democratic senators might vote upon a certain matter pending before the senate contrary to the views of a majority of the body of the Democratic senators, the Democratic senators were called to caucus on such matters; and Reports Were True.

"Whereas, it was found at such caucus that certain Democratic senators might vote or would vote contrary to the views of said majority; and,

"Whereas, thereupon the following resolutions were presented and adopted by more than two-thirds of the senators present at said caucus. (Here was inserted the resolutions adopted by the Democratic caucus); and,

"Whereas, the apparent purpose of said resolutions and action was to properly to induce or coerce Democratic senators who might believe that the best interests of the country required the ratification of said treaty and because thereof held it to be their duty to vote for its ratification and into disregarding that part of their oaths in which they declared that they would faithfully discharge the duties of the office of senators; therefore, be it

Resolutions Introduced.

"Resolved, First, That such action by the said or any other caucus is in plain violation of the spirit and intent of the constitution of the United States.

"Second—That for two-thirds or any other number of the senators of any party to meet and declare that it shall be the duty of any senator to vote upon any question other than his own convictions impel him is a plain violation of the manifest intent and spirit of the constitution all have sworn to uphold and defend.

"Third—That the 'one vote' constitution declares each senator shall have his own vote and not the vote of any other or of any number of other senators, and for a senator to cast that 'one vote' against his convictions of right and duty in the premises is to disfranchise his state in the senate and to deprive it of the representation it shall have.

Invasion of Rights.

"Fourth—That when any number of senators, by combination or otherwise, undertake through any species of coercion to induce other senators to vote except as their judgments and consciences tell them, it is an invasion of the rights of a state to equal representation with other states in the senate and is subversive of their rights to equal representation and the votes of its senators in the senate that the constitution has provided for.

"Fifth—That the senator who permits any body of other senators to define to him what is his duty in the matter of his vote in the senate and who casts his vote in response to such interference, votes 'not as a senator, from his own state, but as a senator from the other states, and he augments the power of the other states beyond that permitted by the constitution and weakens and degrades the power of his own state in the senate in violation of the spirit of the constitution.

"Sixth—That for any senator to vote except as his judgment and sense of duty under his oath of office requires, is to degrade the high office of senator, and to assail the dignity and standing of the senate of the United States—qualities possessed by such high degree by no other legislative body in the world."

Came as a Surprise.

The resolution came as a surprise. Mr. Patterson and Mr. Tillman rose simultaneously, but Mr. Patterson received recognition from the chairman.

"Does the senator from Colorado yield to the senator from South Carolina?" asked the vice president, but before Mr. Patterson could reply Mr. Tillman stated that he merely rose to make inquiry as to the parliamentary status. "Is it a question of personal privilege?" he asked, and Mr. Patterson replied in the negative.

"I object to consideration then," said Mr. Tillman.

"There is no intention of asking consideration at this time," responded Mr. Patterson.

"The resolution is of such a character that no harm can come from its lying over. I ask that the consideration of the resolution be postponed until tomorrow and to give notice that I shall then ask to be heard on it."

The further consideration of the resolution was accordingly postponed for twenty-four hours.

Gave Way to Patterson.

Mr. Lodge had prepared a resolution similar to that of Senator Patterson, declaring that a treaty like the Dominican should not be merely the subject of party action, but withheld it when he heard that Mr. Patterson had prepared a resolution. This he heard from the lips of the Colorado leader, who claimed the privilege of presenting the matter. Mr. Lodge conceded the superiority of Mr. Patterson's claim.

After the passage of a few bills of minor importance the statehood bill was reached on the calendar, and Mr. Lodge objected to present consideration.

Mr. Beveridge said he hoped the bill could be read and a time fixed finally to dispose of it.

Mr. Foraker said he opposed the bill in its present form and hoped to see it modified, but he was ready to vote at any time.

Shipping Bill.

The shipping bill was then taken up and Mr. Teller addressed the senate on that subject. He made reply to the intimations that the funds used in connection with irrigation reclamation service had been given as a bounty to the west, claiming that it rather is in the nature of a loan than a gift, and saying that it is a benefit only in that no interest is required to be paid on it.

He contended that the irrigation law is as of as much importance to the east as to the west, and said the fact that eastern senators had voted for that measure supplies no reason why western senators should vote for the shipping bill. He referred to the fact that the treasury reports show an increasing deficit and asked where the money with which to pay the proposed subsidies is to be secured. When Mr. Teller concluded the senate agreed to a recess made by Mr. Gallinger to vote on the shipping bill on Wednesday, Feb. 14.

The senate at 3:10 p. m. went into executive session and at 3:27 adjourned.

LOBSTERS FROM EASTERN COAST

Shipment of Atlantic Variety Arrives Green at Wholesale House.

FRUIT AND MEAT SCARCE

PRICES OF BOTH ARE INCLINED TO BE STIFF.

Eastern lobsters, the real, live, green kind—the kind one gets in New York and along the coast of the Atlantic—made their appearance at one of the wholesale fish houses yesterday. Wholesale, this variety of crustacean will bring in Salt Lake City 50 cents the pound. What the price to be paid by the consumer will be may be guessed.

The local fish market received yesterday many large shipments of all classes of river and sea food. Fresh halibut, which has been scarce for the past several days, was one of the articles brought in. The price of this fish was placed at 12 cents. A large shipment of steel head salmon was also received. Fourteen cents per pound wholesale is the amount being asked for salmon. Striped bass is plentiful at 17 cents per pound, wholesale. Shad is bringing 13 cents. Smelts are scarce and are priced at 17 cents per pound, wholesale. Flounder and herring are fairly plentiful at 12 and 12½ cents. A large shipment of barracuda, a variety of fish out of market for some days past, was received yesterday. Barracuda is bringing 15 cents per pound, wholesale, and 17 cents retail. Red Rock cod is in the market. It is priced at 13 cents wholesale, and 15 cents retail.

The usual variety of California vegetables was received yesterday. The offerings at present are not large nor extra choice. Prices on all California products are high.

Fruit is becoming scarce. Apples are at a premium. Grape fruit, oranges and most of the other California fruits are scarce and high. Several large shipments of apples and oranges were received yesterday, but the amounts received did not change the price materially. Good oranges are bringing 35 to 50 cents per dozen. Apples are held at three to four pounds for 25 cents.

Meats are high. Veal was an unknown quantity in the market yesterday. Pork is unusually scarce. Beef is firm and will go a cent per pound higher wholesale within the next five days, it is said. The cause of the sudden stiffening in the beef price is largely a matter of conjecture. Dealers are placing all the blame on the weather man.

Seven applications for the appropriation of water were filed yesterday in the state engineer's office. The applications were made for water to be used for irrigation and culinary purposes.

John H. Seely of Mt. Pleasant applied for ten acre feet of water to be impounded in the Rods Valley reservoir in Emery county, and to be taken in from the Green river system. There are forty acres of land to be irrigated in the summer season and during the winter the water is to be used for watering stock and for culinary purposes. Stuart R. Seely filed a similar application for twelve acre feet to be impounded in the same reservoir. The water is to be used for the same purposes.

The Dry Gulch Irrigation company asked for seventy-two second feet of water to be taken from the Green river in Wasatch county. The water is to be diverted in canals 63,900 feet in length and distributed over 4,320 acres of land entered under the filing.

Frederick H. Newmeyer of Ft. Duchesne made application for two and two-thirds second feet of water to be taken from the Green river in Uintah county. There are 160 acres of land to be irrigated under the filing.

R. M. Pope, 318 East Tenth South street, filed two applications for water. In both cases the water is to be diverted from springs in Sam's canyon in Uintah county. There are 160 acres of land under the first application and fifteen acres under the second.

Charles Simons of Theodore, Utah, also asked for two second feet to be taken from the Green river system in Wasatch county. Under the filing 160 acres of land are to be irrigated.
